NURSING HOME FALL INJURIES | ROMANUCCI & BLANDIN

Romanucci & Blanding represents nursing home residents who have been injured at a nursing home facility, many whom have suffered injuries from falls they have sustained at the nursing home or long-term care or assisted living facility. The majority of these falls are the result of nursing home abuse or negligence.

Negligence of the nursing home staff is often the primary cause of nursing home falls. Whether the nursing home is understaffed or the residents are not being supervised appropriately, that negligence leads to many falls. Other cases of fall injuries are even more tragic, since there are some falls that were caused intentionally. Accidental or intentional nursing home falls can cause back or spinal cord injuries, traumatic brain injuries (TBI) or even wrongful death.

Romanucci & Blanding's nursing home fall injury attorneys have extensive knowledge of nursing home laws and know how to litigate these cases. We will gather all necessary evidence and collect testimonies to help you with your case. When you win, we win.

If you or a loved one has suffered from a fall in an Illinois nursing home, our experienced litigators can work to help you get your rightful compensation.
