

Our Thinking: Justice & Results

Related Practice

Brain Injuries

Premises Liability

Workplace Injury

$4,850,000 Settlement – Brain Injury & Construction Accident

A male carpenter sustained a traumatic brain injury, facial trauma and a torn rotator cuff among other injuries while working at Chicago's Shedd Aquarium when an improperly secured fish tank, weighing thousands of pounds, fell on him, pinning his head between the tank and a concrete wall. He needed two repair surgeries and subsequent rehabilitation and was unable to return to work. A construction company was found guilty of failing to provide proper protections to ensure the safety of the worker.