‘This could be the case that helps cultivate that change’: Lawsuit filed on behalf of Robb Elementary survivor

KSAT-TV | May 24, 2023

In the wake of the shooting at Robb Elementary, several lawsuits have been filed by families of victims and by survivors of the shooting.

Mayah Zamora, now 11 years old, was shot seven times by the gunman and fought to survive those injuries.

Months later, her parents have filed a lawsuit.

“I think the approach to the lawsuit is fairly simple. There’s a problem in this country that’s reached pandemic levels,” said David Neiman, an attorney with Romanucci Blandin Law.

The Chicago-based law office filed an 85-page lawsuit on behalf of Zamora and one of the other survivors of the Robb Elementary tragedy back in November.
